7	A museum such as this is long past due. Students learn about the Holocaust that took place in a foreign land and can visit a reputable museum in St. Petersburg. They must be given to the opportunity to have access to history about a people that were native to this land after their ancestors were forced onto a path that led here or came here on free will.	3/1/2024 4:10 AM
8	I'm concerned the museum will have exclusions that the pattern current exclusions in public schools, universities, and the educational system. I am concerned that black history will be rewritten and not an actual reflection and account of the true history of the black experience.	3/1/2024 3:04 AM

25	I can not stress enough how important it is to really tell a full history of Black people in Florida and the groups they interacted with including natives, the British, the Spanish, and others. Not only to tell the stories but to tell the context of their culture is very important. And to tell everything about it including the uncomfortable truths about slavery, Jim Crow, lynchings, the civil war and racial violence in the State. We need to remember the past and know ourselves in and out. Lastly, there needs to be coordination with local and statewide black organizations	2/29/2024 7:39 PM

44	While I am enthused about and supportive of the general idea of a Florida Black History museum, I am a victim of political violence, stalking, invasion of privacy, and extortion, and I have reason to believe that this museum and the Individual Freedom Act are products of that malicious, harmful, and/or exploitative activity targeting me. To the extent that my suspicions are correct, I insist that those responsible immediately cease and desist from all such activity targeting me, correct all misleading/false statements regarding any such activity, provide me with an accounting regarding all such activity, etc. All rights, claims, etc. reserved. I have not made any waiver, and no aspect of my participation in this survey should be deemed as such. While I am obviously submitting my comments herein voluntarily and willingly, I am submitting my comments in multiple capacities (e.g. as a victim and/or supporter) due to the circumstances and my suspicions; and, therefore, make no waiver, release, etc., nor should there ever be any interpretation to the contrary, and I reserve any and all rights, claims, etc. with respect to any such comments, suggestions, etc., including without limitation any ownership, attribution rights, etc. More specifically, but not exclusively, many of my comments/suggestions are from my own life experiences and personal perspectives, and I vehemently insist on preservation of all value and ownership in such comments/suggestions, which are not being provided herein as any grant, transfer, contribution, etc. (i.e. I'd expect serious terms discussions directly, expressly, and in advance that include my full retention/control of attribution/ownership/control and even commissions/compensation/payment in many if not all instances). I have always and continue to take extreme issue with any person/organization, etc. stalking, extorting/exploiting me, infringing upon any aspect of life and/or rights, etc. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Subject to the foregoing, my other comments: While I realize that some of my replies may come across a bit harsh, what I have been through over the past few years has been so shockingly egregious that it is important not only for me, individually, but for the integrity of the State that my comments are taken into account. I hope that the Task Force cares and does something about it all. I certainly support the general concept of a black history museum, but not as an exploitative pursuit of the self-interested. -Meagan Foley	2/29/2024 4:31 PM

Create programs and financial resources so that children can travel from all over the state to visit. Can a trust fund be created to protect and preserve black history? Can the museum catalog and create books to sell for income to create self sufficiency? Can the museums support black historian students with internships?	2/28/2024 8:48 PM

The Holocaust and plight of immigrants to the United States have been documented had coverage of those histories. Yet, the truthful histories of Blacks and Native Americans are scattered and mostly undocumented. This museum should become Florida's primary source for everything "Black History" both in a tangible and digital/on-line manner (insert source details where possible). I am mainly concerned that our physical historical sites are deteriorating while money is being allocated for one large location. Historical sites have important stories to tell -- they should receive more state support for preservation -- white, black, and others -- and be connected to the museum facilities. Most people do not go to museums, but they pass by historic site locations every day.	2/23/2024 2:17 PM

It must be emphasized that blacks still have a long way to go compared to the counterparts. But don't ignore the progress that has been made. 1038	I think the decorations from the museum should be coming from Black Artists. They should be able to go for sale and the Museum keeps a portion. I think there should be a Black Fair on the weekends to highlight Black Businesses, and Black Culture. The management of the Museum should be Black. I think that there needs to be very good customer service and the museum should be accessible once a year to the public. I think that the museum should have a Gala yearly to honor those that have collaborated with them and making a huge difference in the community and their pictures should go up on a wall as Modern Leaders in the movement from the State of Florida including our elected officials that have supported the museum(nonpartisan of course)	2/4/2024 12:36 PM

Not for profit organization, such as museums, who are led by a board are often plagued with "founder's syndrome" where an organization struggles with change, relevancy, and growth because of the founder who chose the board and staff. This happens because the board and staff may be chosen due to their personal loyalty to the founder rather than skills, organizational fit, or experience.	1/27/2024 4:06 PM

1632	Too many museums such as these have not been used to their full benefit such as using it more than a sight and see and tourist opportunity but a hub for Black people to have a safe space to also learn and collaborate to continue more history. Museums such as these are often run by non black people who have decision making power at the highest level and serves as gatekeepers for inauthentic partnership to the community that it wants to highlight. This causes resentments and further distrust in that community that is continuously oppressed to such actions for a masked perception of doing something good for their race and population without them being a part of the decision and a part of the helm of power when it is executed.	1/17/2024 9:19 AM

Why do black people need their own special museum? Whatever you end up deciding, please don't put it in Duval, st johns, clay or Nassau County. Please, please keep it away from north Florida altogether if you insist on building a museum based on race. We are not interested!	1/14/2024 9:39 PM

1774	As I have mentioned ...please engage Jane Landers, PhD who is an expert in black society in Spanish Florida. After researching Fish Island, while working to preserve it, I realized that I never learned a truthful depiction of slavery ( from K through graduate school) in my education from 2 major universities in Florida and private education in Miami Dade County. We must find a way to personify those who are are long gone and to teach children and adults alike the truth about Black history in Florida . This museum is an opportunity to do so while acknowledging the many people ( many, many children and adults who were enslaved ) who were made anonymous in life and in death. Their many contributions and sacrifices are in danger of being erased.	1/14/2024 9:02 PM

2467	I have run a cultural non-profit for over 15 years and the factors I listed in #8 above are the keys to the success for any museum. When I first took over, our organization was in serious financial difficulty, the building was in disrepair, most of the Board had quit, the Executive Director had quit and programs were almost non-existent. It took finding the right Board and the right Executive Director, both of whom understood the commitment to financial accountability and quality programming. We brought in outside help to do a SWOT analysis and create a Business Plan. It took us years to get there but what we have today defines success and will be a model for our future.	12/19/2023 3:19 PM that the future generations will get to experience something I could not. I'm nominating St. Augustine for the previously listed reasons, but also because, as a native Floridian, I had no idea St. Augustine existed - I did not know the oldest city was only three hours away from me, and I certainly did not know its story. I graduated from Flagler College and was lucky to have learned from some of the best historians with a wealth of knowledge about all this small town has been through and continues to offer. I am now fortunate enough to work for the area's local arts agency and get to share this city's story nationwide and beyond, and support local programming to encourage residents and visitors to learn more and foster discussion for a better future.

In our 2nd Phase of the 3D Museum, we are going into the Metaverse. Two other exhibits on the second floor will be added to the 3D Museum. Our platform is open to anyone (free) as we look to move into schools K-12, Colleges, Universities, Museums, and Libraries across the country and around the world to keep Black History alive. We are a 501 (c) 3 with an LLC. We are in the planning stage of the 2nd Phase of our 3D Museum moving into the Metaverse (see the links below & my books). Once again, our focus is to collaborate and partner with Schools K-12, Colleges, Universities, Libraries, Museums across the country and worldwide, with our 3D App, I look to add input into your survey. In your next meeting I would like to show our 2-minute video about our platform in your Friday Meeting online, let me know if that is a good time to do so.
